

ULTIMATE IRELAND MAEVE QUIGLEY & DEMELZA de BURCA

LET'S GET INTIMATE. By Demelza de Burca

IT'S that time of year again folks, when a plethora of acts take to the altar and preach to the converted.

Snow Patrol, Richard Hawley, The XX and Temper Trap are among those who'll be performing intimate live sets as part of this year's Other Voices 8 extravaganza, which takes place in Dingle from December 5 to 9.

Exact details of the individual performances at St James' Church are still under wraps, as due to the "nature of television recording, it will not be possible to announce each evening's line up until closer to the recordings."

Tickets for each of the shows, which have a limited capacity of just 60, go on sale at 9am on Monday, November 23 priced €35.

Booking is limited to a maximum of two tickets and two nights per person.

This year's series will be presented by BBC Radio 1 DJ Annie Mac, who divides her time between numerous BBC radio shows, live festival broadcasts, TV presenting and club DJing in the UK.

