

Top stars for Other Voices in Dingle

The latest series in RTE's Other Voices kicks off in St James's Church in Dingle this weekend, beginning a five-day schedule of concerts by some of the leading names in contemporary music.

The full line-up for the unique series of intimate shows was announced this week.

Amongst the leading names are ex Suede frontman Brett Anderson, Mercury Music prize winner, Speech Debelle, Snow Patrol, Imelda May and retro crooner Richard Hawley.

Tickets to the shows sold out within minutes of going on sale, according to organisers.

The full line-up is: Saturday 5th - Snow Patrol and Ollie Cole; Sunday - Bell X1, The Magic Numbers, The Antlers and Villagers; Monday - Megafaun, Imelda May, The Lost Brothers and The Brothers Movement; Tuesday - Brett Anderson, The Temper Trap, Jesca Hoop and Fionn Regan; Wednesday - Richard Hawley, The xx and Speech Debelle. Saturday's Snow Patrol show will mark an international first, according to Other Voices producers. The performance will be broadcast live in high-definition to audiences in a number of different locations in Dingle.

Other Voices will be broadcast on RTÉ Two in early 2010.
